

Cover illustration: '5pm' watercolour (200x260mm), attributed to WH Harrison, July 1881

This nostalgic representation of a 19th century domestic interior at teatime, demonstrates the dangers of taking such romanticised representations too literally. Members' observations and comments on this scene, especially with regard to regional indicators and the design of the longcase clock, would be welcomed and could be published in the next newsletter. Ed.