

Furniture-Related Facebook Pages

I follow various Facebook pages devoted to all aspects of church crawling, including specific pages relating to such topics as royal arms and ‘coffin biers and stretchers’, and others relating more generally to historic buildings. All often feature images of various items of furniture. I have more recently found a few pages devoted more specifically to furniture which may be of interest to members for the numerous photos which are posted even if not necessarily for the text or the comments!
